

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Many Muslims have no true knowledge of the Laws of Justice, and feel they can act as they wish without any prick of conscience, with prejudice.

Allah chooses MAN to be upright and JUST in all his ways

It is our bounden duty to obey what the Shariah says.

Through an indebt search for the rules of Shariah, we find

To his children and wife, he should be loving and kind

He should stand upright as a MAN and not just be a male beast, and go about abandoning women at will without worrying in the least

I hope the young people among us will realize

That Life is not just a game of dice,

Marriage is a solemn covenant and pact,

Not just a business contract.

It should not be broken at will

Just because they feel downhill.

To break it without a valid reason is the most hateful act.

Hence, to preserve it, one must use a lot of tact.

The world today forgets that the basis for the marriage bond is trust, love, and justice.

Women also should realize that marriage is not only for her pleasure

But is a bond for life and for the sake of the children they treasure,

They too have to be patient where needed, to keep the ties intact

So that they may know that life has some serious meaning,

Children should be brought up with this moral training.

So that their married life does not become strained,

The fear of Allah should be, in their hearts engrained.

This will help them avoid the 3 "D" s

And not live life as they see in videos and CDs

Allah Alone can give us tranquillity and peace,

Hence, we must always beware that HIS Grace does not cease.
